ABOUT CPTED

HOW DOES THIS TOOLKIT WORK?

There are many ways to reduce different forms of violence in communities, including changing the built environment (think sidewalks, streetlights, and landscaping) to make it easier for neighbors to connect with each other. When neighbors know and look out for each other, it helps everyone in a neighborhood be and feel safer. This toolkit uses the principles of Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED) to help residents identify opportunities for improvement within their neighborhoods, actively engaging with their neighbors, and strengthening existing violence prevention initiatives.

WHAT IS CRIME PREVENTION THROUGH ENVIRONMENTAL DESIGN?

Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design (CPTED), is a way to make our communities more welcoming by keeping safety in mind when thinking about the places and spaces you share with your neighbors.

CPTED is about making simple changes to our surroundings to encourage safety and connection among neighbors. We can use this strategy to reduce crime and violence and bring neighbors together.

DOES CPTED REDUCE CRIME AND VIOLENCE?

There are many examples from around the country that show how using CPTED has reduced crime and helped residents feel safer while creating a community environment where people from different backgrounds feel welcome and safe.

Neighborhoods across the U.S. have had dramatic reductions in drug sales, burglaries and general crime by using CPTED strategies.

WHO IS THIS TOOLKIT FOR?

This toolkit is for neighborhoods and residents who want to create safer places to live and work. This toolkit explains CPTED and provides hands-on ways residents can work together to help address problem areas in their neighborhoods to make them safer.

WHO OFFERS CPTED ASSESSMENTS IN THE COMMUNITY?

If you are interested in having someone to consult with directly about the safety of your home following CPTED principles, local law enforcement can connect you with an officer trained to provide physical security assessments.

If you're interested in a formal CPTED assessment you can contact P.O. Aaron McKie.

Call: 816-581-0723

Email: aaron.mckie@kcpd.org

WHAT ARE CPTED PRINCIPLES?

Residents can do a CPTED assessment of their neighborhood with the following principles:

CAN I SEE OTHERS? CAN OTHERS SEE ME?

People feel safe in areas where it is easy to see or be seen by others, like a block where neighbors use their front yards and porches. Issues like over-grown shrubs, bad lighting, or high walls or privacy fences make it difficult to see and discourage residents from enjoying their neighborhood, which can create opportunities for unsafe or violent behavior.

DO I KNOW WHERE TO GO?

People feel more secure when they know how to get around their neighborhood and find where to go. Things like clearly marked entrances and exits or signs that guide visitors to their destinations make it easier to enjoy public spaces and help everyone understand what those spaces are used for.

WHAT IS THIS SPACE FOR?

A space that is being used for what it is supposed to be used for feels safer. Some examples are when public parks and playgrounds feel safe and welcoming for kids and families and marking the end of a public space and the beginning of private property.

IS THIS SPACE MAINTAINED?

People are less likely to engage in unsafe behavior in places where it is clear that someone cares about the space. Things like mowed lawns, cleaning up graffiti as soon as it happens, and securing vacant buildings make it clear that residents care about their neighborhood and are paying attention to what happens there.

IS MY NEIGHBORHOOD CONNECTED?

CPTED ideas are more than physical changes; they include social programs that encourage connection among neighbors. A connected community values diversity, shares a sense of belonging, and works to develop positive relationships among people from different backgrounds.

IS THERE A SENSE OF COMMUNITY?

A strong sense of community can encourage positive outlooks and behaviors. This is created when residents set up and participate in festivals, cultural events, neighborhood cleanups, youth groups, etc.

CPTED ASSESSMENT TOOL

This CPTED tool can be used by community members to do an assessment of their neighborhood. Following the assessment are potential ideas for neighborhood projects and resources that can help create a safer, more connected community.

Get connected

Residents and neighborhood leaders post event, concerns, and other relevant information regularly. Start by posting about this toolkit! You can find your neighborhood group's contact info by scanning the QR code below.

Know who your local elected officials are and how you can contact them. Visit the city council resource page for more information.

Meet your neighbors

If a neighbor is expecting a baby, organize a meal delivery. If new neighbors are moving in across the street, tell them about your favorite local restaurants. Plan or participate in holiday events for neighborhood kids. These activities create a sense of belonging in your neighborhood.

If your neighborhood faces language barriers at organized events, the Jewish Vocational Services can provide translation services for an affordable price. For more information about JVS, visit their resource page.

NOTES:

SOLUTIONS

Participate in clean ups or help an elderly neighbor with yard work.

Once you are connected with your neighborhood group, attend or host events at local parks, community centers, or block parties.

For more information on neighborhood groups, refer to the previous solutions for neighborhood connectedness. For organizational resources, see the Public Improvements and Advisory Committee resource page to learn about available neighborhood grant opportunities.

Not only does this beautify your neighborhood, but you get to know each other and start to watch out for each other!

A great and easy way to increase community connection and perception of safety is to participate in positive behaviors like going on walks, using the parks near your home, and sitting on your porch!
