"Few are willing to brave the disapproval of their fellows, the censure of their colleagues, the wrath of their society. Moral courage is a rarer commodity than bravery in battle or great intelligence. Yet it is the one essential, vital quality of those who seek to change a world which yields most painfully to change" Robert F. Kennedy (1925-1968), from his address to students at the University of Capetown, South Africa, 1966. Between 1948 and the early 1990s, South Africa was ruled by apartheid, a political system in which only white people had political rights and power and which segregated the different peoples of color.
