

Self-Study Plan Worksheet: Community and Policy Change

1. What is one method you learned about to evaluate community-level or policy-change work?
How would you describe it in your own words?

2. How is evaluating community-level change similar to evaluating individual-level change?
How is it different?

3. What topics or tools do you need to explore further before you can engage in evaluation of community or policy-change efforts?

For further information or assistance in meeting your evaluation needs or to discuss your answers to the above questions, send an email to prevention@nsvrc.org.