When you want to get close to someone — whether you’re hooking up for the first time or in a long-term relationship — it’s important to know how to ask for consent.

ASK YOURSELF
- How might my actions make someone feel?

ASK YOUR PARTNER
- About things like protection, previous experiences, preferences, and more through texts or in casual settings.

ASK YOURSELF
- Am I in a clear enough state to respect someone’s boundaries or have I had too much to drink?

ASK YOUR PARTNER
- What they’d like to do. Be specific about what you’re asking. For example, “Do you want to mess around? Like cuddling and making out?”

ASK YOURSELF
- Am I making it clear from my words, tone, and body language that I’m OK with the answer, no matter what it is?

“Do you want to...?”

IF YOUR PARTNER SAYS NO
Accept their answer. Never try to convince or guilt someone to say yes when they’ve already said no.

IF YOUR PARTNER SEEMS UNSURE
Play it safe and don’t go further. Instead ask them what they’d like to do.

IF YOUR PARTNER SAYS YES
You can move forward. Keep checking in to make sure they’re enjoying what’s happening.

CONSENT IS A SKILL — YOU GET BETTER AS YOU PRACTICE.
